June Newsletter 2018

May and June have been the months of exhibitions in Brighton and Hove. Both of which were extended until the end of June so if you are off to the coast to enjoy this amazing weather, then do pop in, you can even get coffee at the Sunshine Arts and Books Café at Hove Manor.

Limited Edition Prints

I am very excited to announce that my Limited Edition Print range is finally here. It has taken me several months to find a product that matches my fussy perfectionism! I was thrilled to find an amazing quality paper and inks that are both vibrant and have longevity. They are all Giclee prints that are Fine Art quality on archival paper with pigment inks, and naturally signed and numbered by yours truly!

They are very small print runs of either 20 or 30, and have started to sell well, so snap yours up soon to avoid disappointment... 😊

Can't see the painting you like? Contact me, and it maybe my next in the range as I will be adding to this range.

It's All About Art

Don't miss my latest blog, discussing the environment, art and my love of the cycle of regeneration in nature.

Last month was all about the importance of humanity's relationship with nature and this month is about my series 'Fading Blooms' series which looks at the beauty in dying flowers.

My latest work in progress, based upon the 'Fading Blooms' of Roses and will be part of the same series. Only the bottom right flower is finished the others are in various stages of being painted with their under colours. This was inspired by my 'Art Seasonally' project looking at the changing seasons.
